* * *

This Memorial Booklet is published by Temple Beth El as an addendum to the Yizkor service in Gates of Repentance. The names within are honored by the members of our congregation who have chosen to remember them here. They, and the memories of all our loved ones, are with us. May their memories be for a blessing.

The Yizkor Memorial Book has been underwritten by Malinow and Silverman Mortuary

There Are Stars

There are stars whose light reaches the earth only after they themselves have disintegrated and are no more.

And there are men and women whose shining memory lights the world after they themselves are no longer amongst us.

These lights which shine in the darkest night are the very ones which illumine for us the path.

Hannah Szenes

Death will come. Its hand will not be stayed even an instant; nor can we enter into judgment with it. Our question "Why?" will go unanswered. But this does not mean that we are helpless in the face of death. We can and we do rob death of ultimate victory by living life as long as it is ours to live. To ask of death that it never come is futile, but it is not futility to pray that when death comes for us, it may take us from a world one corner of which is a little better because we were there. When we are dead, and people weep for us and grieve, let it be because we touched their lives with beauty and simplicity. Let it not be said that life was good to us, but, rather that we were good to life.

Rabbi Jacob P. Rudin

A Prayer When a Parent Dies

I miss you. You gave me my life. You were my protector, my teacher, my moral compass, my comfort. I feel so alone without you. No one worries about me the way you did. No one loves me the way you did.

Please forgive me for the times I caused you pain, and for the times I took you for granted. I can't begin to fathom all the sacrifices you made for my sake.

I want to thank you for all the ways you blessed my life. Nothing can replace the gaping hole your death has left in my life. But mixed together with all my sadness, there is a great joy for having known you.

I will remember your smile, your touch. I will remember your laughter, your kindness, your generosity, your determination, your love.

Thank you for the time we shared, for the love you gave, for the wisdom you spread. I will always treasure the lessons you taught me. I will carry them with me all the days of my life. I am so proud to be your child.

May God watch over and bless you, with gentleness and with love. As you blessed me. Rest in peace. Amen.

Rabbi Naomi Levi

A Prayer for Grieving over a Spouse

I miss you every day. I miss your smile and your company and the way you held my hand. I miss the smell of your hair on my pillow and the sound of your voice. I miss our conversations and even our arguments. I miss taking care of you. Of holding you in my arms so tight that you almost seemed like part of me.

The best part of me is gone. It's like a limb that's been amputated, and I keep reaching out to touch it, but all I feel is the cold air rushing between my fingers. And it hurts so much.

But death cannot extinguish your memory, my love. I thank God for the life we shared. I will always treasure our days together. Your abiding love is my blessing and my comfort.

May God take care of you and watch over you, with gentleness and with love, as you took care of me. May God guard you and protect you until that day when I at last find myself beside you once more. Amen.

Rabbi Naomi Levi

A Prayer When a Parent Loses a Child

It hurts too much, God. I can't bear it. I don't know how to go on, how to make it through each day. I want to scream. I don't know how to fit in, how to mourn politely and gracefully. People keep telling me I am strong. But I'm not strong. There's nothing left of me. The best of me is dead.

Everything I do feels false. Every conversation is empty and forced. My face is a doll's face, my eyes are glass, my smile is painted on, I keep repeating to myself-why? why? why? My arms and legs are lead. My heart is in ruins. I remember a time of laughter and love and music and hope. But death came and destroyed all that, and left me a ravaged survivor.

Help me, God. Give me strength. Ease my suffering. Show me how to live in this world when my soul lies in the grave. Heal my heart, God; be my comfort. Revive my hope, God; teach me to believe that I will come to know blessings and joy once more. Stay with me, God; don't leave me.

Hear my prayer, God. I entrust my child to You, God. Take care of him. Watch over him. Protect him. Spread Your peace over him. Shelter him with gentleness and love. As I would. Guard him until the day when I find myself beside him once more.

Hear me, God. Heal me, God. Amen

Rabbi Naomi Levi

Consolation

I would comfort you, dear friend
Wipe away your tears
Turn your sorrow into joy.

I would console you
With words of ancient wisdom
Of the need for acceptance of the inevitable
The inexorable course of life.

I would speak to you of
The immortality of influence
The afterlife of memory
The echo of goodness
In the cavern of our lives.

Yet the sages caution
Not in haste
To console the bereaved
Not too soon
To begin the healing.

I would raise the heavy weight
From your heart,
Wave a wand and transform your grief.

But the heart has its own wisdom
Sets its own time
And will not be rushed.

Now is the time for silence
The dumb silence that awaits
The coming of a new mood,
And a brighter spirit
With you, friend,
I will be silent
Tomorrow we will speak.

Rabbi Harold Schulweis

Life After Death

These things I know:

How the living go on living
and how the dead go on living with them
so that in a forest
even a dead tree casts a shadow
and the leaves fall one by one
and the branches break in the wind
and the bark peels off slowly
and the trunk cracks
and the rain seeps in through the cracks
and the trunk falls to the ground
and the moss covers it
and in the spring the rabbits find it
and build their nest
inside the dead tree
so that nothing is wasted in nature
or in love.

Laura Gilpin

Psalm 23

The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures;
He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul;
He guideth me in straight paths for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death,
I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me;
Thy rod and Thy staff, they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies;
Thou hast anointed my head with oil; my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life;
And I shall dwell in the house of the Lord forever.
